Appendix 2: Silent Auction Report [Wendy Barlow]

The Silent Auction began in 2013 by Sue and Naga Terada and has continued under the guidance of myself - Wendy Barlow, Candy Anders, Wayne Kelley, Richard Douziech and John Anders.

We would like to thank the following people who volunteered for the day of the auction:

- a. Rudy Reimer, Stefan and Suzie Beckmann for set up and support during the day;
- b. Suzie Beckmann and Shelley Judd as 50/50 volunteers;
- c. Bryan and Shelley Judd for the distribution of items to winners; and
- d. Hilda Reimer, Laura Haslett and Debbie Dundass assisting at the cash tables

The Silent Auction raised $6,800, AMCS donated $330 and the United Church DORCAS Thrift Shop donated $1,000. Total donation to the Fire Dept was $8,230!

Currently there are only 3 of us approaching retailers for donations, myself - Wendy Barlow, Candy Anders and Wayne Kelley. Who to approach has become easier as we have a data base with the list of donators from the previous years and the items they donated. We divide the list among us. Richard Douziech produces the auctions sheets on each of the donated items and is there the day of the auction for set up and follow up. John Anders provides assistance where needed and helps on set up.

Lessons learned this year:

1. The 8 volunteers the day of the auction were certainly needed and the same number will be needed next year.
2. We need to have at least 2 more volunteers for approaching retailers, following up, prize pick up and delivery of Thank you letters. These volunteers must be able to start March/April time frame.
3. General Announcements and speeches should not be made during the last 30 min of the auction as it pulls people from the auction at the time up bidding is active. Speeches and General Announcements are strongly recommended when the auction has been announced closed and the team is compiling the results.

We wish to express our appreciation to the Mountain residents and town business's who donated auction items, to the Mountain residents who willingly placed bids on the items, and to the AMCS for organizing and administering the annual BBQ.

Appendix 3: ENCOM Report [Wendy Barlow]

EMERGENCY NOTIFICATION AND COMMUNICATIONS (ENCOM)

At the last AGM you were informed of the following 4 topics:

1. We had established both the automated system and the manual phone tree system for each area. Standing Operating Procedures were created for the ENCOM team and the leads then distributed with follow up meetings.
2. Each system is activated at the same time and we do annual mountain wide tests of both systems each spring.
3. The folders containing Emergency Notification and Communication information and sites, as well as Fire Smart information were distributed by the area leads and the remainder are being held at the Fire Hall for any new residents.
4. The ENCOM team, composed of myself -Wendy Barlow, Sue McEvoy, Carolyne Strohmann and Richard Douziech became members of the Anarchist Mountain Volunteer Fire Department as the Communication Team.

Since the last AGM we have the following to report:

The first part of this year the team drafted a letter to be sent to property owners who have not built so informing them of our Emergency Notification Systems.

The letter was signed by AMCS president, Mark McKinney, inviting them to be part of our automated system so they can be kept up to date on situations on the mountain. We received some positive responses and they have been added to our automated system. Each Area Lead received a copy of the letter and a list of the lots in their area that the letter was sent to.

In our preparation for the spring test of both systems we noted that the addition of towers for cell phones has increased our coverage capability for the upper areas of the mountains. The result of the spring test compared to the fall test in September 2014:

20 September 2014: 43% live answers; 48% voice mail and 9% no answer

11 April 2015 was 48.5% live answers; 43% voice mail and 8.2% no answer

The automated system is a great start for notification as it does contact the majority of people, either live or voice mail - 91%

Due to the observations that emails are not necessarily being received on the test, we provided the following information to the leads:

The automated system is a phone based system and emails are secondary. We are finding that emails are not always going through and can only assume it is due to Spam blocks. We have done everything possible to eliminate Spam blocks at our end but it is the user end too that sometimes has to be adjusted. Unfortunately the carrier issues are beyond our control.

Every test has us fine tuning the systems to meet our needs.

On 12 August 2015, Urs Grob was appointed as our new Fire Chief. His total acceptance and understanding of our Communication Team in the Fire Department resulted in us developing our role further. This development occurred very quickly since the Fire Chief was addressing the Fire approaching us from Washington within days of taking control. The ENCOM committee members on duty issued Emergency Notifications via the automated system and initiated the manual system as per directions from the Fire Chief. ENCOM remained in continual communication with the Fire Chief during the incident and posted communication messages to the Fire Department Facebook and Web sites.

Following the summer fires, follow up meetings with the Fire Chief has us progressing on the Standing Operating Procedures between the ENCOM team and the Fire Dept. The SOPs will have our roles in 3 areas:

a. How and when to send Emergency Notification to the areas affected. The automated system provides Emergency Notification and as per our SOPs established last year we only contacted the areas affected by the emergency. There were a number of discussions on this procedure as to whether this information should be sent to all areas. The conclusion of the discussions was to only notify the area or areas affected. The rational was that since we limit the use of the system for Emergency Alert, Emergency Evacuation and Rescind only, and once a year we do a full mountain test, this ensures people will know on hearing that it is an emergency, so will pay attention. Using the system to notify areas not affected may cause people to become complacent and not fully listen to the actual info. In the same vein, we discovered human nature on the last Emergency Alert - a number of people heard "Emergency" and evacuated, which is their choice, but in the end no Evacuation was issued. There were 3 homes that received Evacuation notice from the Emergency Responders on the scene going to their homes as it was the lay of the land and conditions that dictated this procedure.

b. The Communication portion of our role: Emergency Notification and Communication (ENCOM), has us providing up to date information on incidents by postings on the AMFD web site, twitter and Facebook. This was provided to a degree during the August fires. With the new Fire Chief, we are busy working on the Communication portion, as in our SOPs developed last year with the Area Leads we only explained we would be "updating this on a continual bases". Due to many factors we are slowly working on the most efficient method on how to populate the 3 media sites, as well as how the information will be presented so people can make their choices accordingly. In addition, we want to ensure people don't go to the area where the incident is occurring, and sadly many people do, which only hinders the emergency personnel progress. We are in discussions with the Fire Chief as this affects his ability to safely direct his Fire Depts resources with the safety of all people on the mountain in mind. It is not an easy nut to crack.

c. On the last Emergency Alert notification the Fire Chief started getting many calls from the residents from both the area affected and other areas. As we want the Fire Chief to concentrate on the emergency and directing his resources, the Fire Chief is working with the ENCOM team to handle incoming calls to either provide information, where to find further information or direct to the Fire Chief when necessary.

The ENCOM Team met from Jan to Nov 2015, for a total of 7 meetings along with many hours of preparation and updates. On 20 July 2015, the Team provided a brief to Fire Hall members explaining our roles.

The Area Leads are active in their roles too as they are continually providing updates. In the spring they are our key contacts in preparation for the Mtn wide test, by verifying phone numbers and reviewing their phone trees to ensure the flow is the best fit for their neighbours and adding any new additions.

The ENCOM Team wants to express our sincere appreciation to all our Area Leads for their continued efforts, to the Anarchist Mountain Society for their support in all our community dealings, and to the Anarchist Mountain Fire Department's Chief, Urs Grob, for his understanding and acceptance of our endeavours and inclusion in the Fire Dept.
