

Intervention By AMCS/RDOS
In The 2017 Fortis Electricity Rate Design Application

October 24, 2018

Fortis submitted their written final argument on October 17th concerning their current rate Application. Nothing new. They are still arguing for a five year phase out of the Residential Conservation Rate and using the same old arguments. AMCS-RDOS will submit their written final argument on November 7th. FBC will then submit their written reply argument on November 22nd and then the proceedings will be closed and the BCUC will issue its decision by the end of the year, effective January 1, 2019.
